Frankfurt, 21. June 2010

Magnifizenz,

Prof. Dr. Peter Hess, full professor of physics at UNAM, has been proposed to be awarded the

Premio Universidad Nacional

I support this most strongly. Peter Hess is a great scientist. He worked for years on the fore front of theoretical physics. As nuclear physicist he made seminal work in various areas; especially his excellent group theoretical knowledge has led him to fundamental insights in nuclear structure and elementary particle structure.

During recent years he developed general relativity in pseudo complex form. This theory goes beyond Einstein. It explains all the effects known from Einstein's theory but goes far beyond it. In particular, and especially, it is free from singularities, i.e. it does not lead to black holes. This is extraordinary!

It will have implications far beyond what is commonly expected from a theory. Peter Hess is a most outstanding physicist; brilliant in his thoughts. He has done most fascinating, brilliant works and belongs – internationally – to the top-class theoretical nuclear physicists.

He is a most outstanding candidate for the Premio Universidad Nacional!

Yours sincerely

(Walter Greiner)
